Exploring ASU Online

Why ASU Online?

We are Arizona State University, online
ASU Online features more than 100 of our world-class undergraduate and graduate degrees online with the same curriculum and prestigious faculty as on campus. You can earn the exact same degree as you would attending Arizona State University in person, but with the added flexibility of learning on your schedule.

Same content, new delivery
Our online courses are highly interactive, and encourage learning through collaboration with your professors and classmates. The online campus also provides access to the vast academic, research and career resources that ASU has to offer.

Your student experience
The ASU Online campus is designed for student success, with complete access to everything you need — courses, assignments, teachers and more — available to you 100% online.

Active support
You’ll work with a support staff dedicated to your education. This team of enrollment counselors, academic advisors and success coaches will assist you every step of the way to answer any questions, help prioritize responsibilities and excel as an online student.

Learn from the best
The faculty of Arizona State University is made up of some of the brightest academic minds in the world. From Nobel Laureates to Fulbright scholars and Pulitzer Prize winners, our online courses provide you with a direct connection to their knowledge and expertise.

Flexibility for your schedule
Because we offer ASU degree programs online, they provide added flexibility for students who are unable to attend on campus. A few courses may require specific log-in times for certain activities, but most coursework can be completed whenever you’d like, as long as it is submitted by the appropriate due date.

Everyone at ASU is so helpful. They answer any questions you have and don’t let you drop the ball. They make it as easy as they possibly can for you to succeed.”

— Chris Parker, Mass Communication and Media Studies Bachelor of Arts

Thank you for requesting information about Arizona State University and our degrees offered online. We hope this guide will begin to inform you about our programs, learning platform and what you can expect when pursuing a degree online with ASU.
Common questions about learning online

ASU was ranked by Money magazine as one of the Best Colleges delivering the most value in the U.S.

How much time will I need for coursework?
For a 7.5 week session, a student should be prepared to spend six hours a week on coursework for every course credit.

Are transfer credits accepted?
Yes. ASU accepts most transfer credits for traditional coursework successfully completed at regionally accredited colleges or universities.

What tools do I need?
At minimum, you need a computer that can access the Internet, preferably with a high-speed connection.

What are the start dates?
ASU Online offers several start dates throughout the year, allowing you to select a time that works best for you.

What is the cost of tuition?
Tuition varies per program. To view current tuition rates and fees go to: http://students.asu.edu/tuitionandbilling

How can I finance my education?
Financial support is available in the form of scholarships, grants, federal work-study, loans and outside resources. Your enrollment counselor will help you determine which options are available to you.

Read more FAQs
http://asuonline.asu.edu/student-resources/faq

Taking the next step
Now that you have submitted our online form to request more information, an ASU enrollment counselor will be in touch with you to discuss your goals and answer any questions you may have about earning your education. He or she can also guide you through selecting a degree program, completing the application process and choosing a start date so you can begin earning your degree as an Arizona State University Sun Devil.

“Whether you are on campus or online, you are part of the Sun Devil community.”
— Brian Mercer, Bachelor of Arts, Film & Media Studies

Apply Now
1-888-887-1334
http://asuonline.asu.edu/about-us/contact-us